Intelligent temperature monitoring for 19" technology areas

The Knürr® Watchdog is a compact, powerful technology module for continuous temperature monitoring in the 19" technology zones of modern control room consoles.

Developed for maximum operational reliability and transparency in sensitive technical environments, the Watchdog enables precise recording and long-term logging of temperature data.

Equipped with up to three externally connectable temperature sensors, the device reliably monitors critical components in real time. The integrated web interface enables user-friendly, browser-based display of the measured values – anytime, anywhere.

Thanks to a freely configurable Ethernet/TCP-IP network interface, the Watchdog can be easily integrated into existing infrastructures.

The IP-based query provides direct access to current temperatures and the historical temperature profile.
